A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRINCIPAL

A school building does not make an educational system, but a good educational system must start with an adequate physical plant. In the anticipation that efforts of your School District are successful in providing the facilities, steps must be made toward developing a broad educational program providing for the needs of all our students.

Our courses of study, activities and physical training programs must be carefully evaluated and upgraded to include new content matter and newly devised methods of instruction that have become important due to the pressures of the technological and sociological changes in our world today. They must be all blended with new equipment, increased and improved library, guidance and audio-visual services into a program that provides for the range of abilities in our school.

This blend of ideas and materials can be brought about only by an actively interested student body and their parents, a professionally-minded and hard-working teaching staff, an efficient and democratic administrative and supervisory staff, and the active support and encouragement of the citizens and directors. Let us all pick up our portion of the load and move our educational program into high gear.

Class Advisor

During the Christmas vacation we were stunned to learn of the sudden death of our Class Advisor, Mr. Matheson. He had been at our school for six years as a teacher of English 1, 4; Civics; French 1, 2; and Commercial Law.

Mr. Edgar Hugh Matheson was born in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. He was a graduate of St. John's College and from the University of Manitoba. In college, Mr. Matheson held a great interest in athletics. He played ice-hocky, was captain of the football team, and did considerable coaching in these and other sports.

During World War I Mr. Matheson was with the British Army, served as a captain in West Yorkshire Regiment, and was decorated with the Military Cross and bar.

In Memoriam

MR. E. HUGH MATHESON

After the war, he completed a course in Law. However, having teaching blood in his veins (both parents were teachers) he went into the field of education. He took accelerated courses at Manitoba Normal School and began his teaching career in January 1923.

Mr. Matheson served in schools in St. Paul, Minnesota; Mohonk Lake, New York; and Tucson, Arizona. For fifteen years he was on the staff of Lake Forest Academy in Illinois, and for the last four he was Registrar.

He came to Bingham in 1948, and belonged to several organizations including the Upper Kennebec Valley Fish and Game Association, Upper Kennebec Valley Teachers Association, was a King Lion of Bingham Lions Club, and Deacon of the Congregational Church.

We have lost a good friend; a wonderful teacher has taught his last class.

Senior Class History

In the fall of 1956 Bingham High opened its doors wide to admit the graduating class of '61. Forty-six members strong, we were herded up into the Freshman room with Mr. Matheson as our class advisor.

After being duly initiated, we held the first of our now famous class meetings and elected William Shaw, President; Larry Malloy, Vice-President; Nancy Bushey, Secretary; Mona McKay, Treasurer, and Stephen Read, Student Council Member.

They led us through a difficult time of getting accustomed to high school, but with everyone joining in extracurricular activities, and our sponsoring a very successful Harvest Dance, we finished the first part of our four-year journey with much more confidence than when we started.

Even though we were now Sophomores, we were again herded to the Freshman room, as we were just too big to go elsewhere, and Mr. Matheson was again our class advisor. We soon realized that we had a little too much confidence in ourselves, when he promptly reminded us that the word "Sophomore" meant "Wise Fool!" This we remembered as we continued the year with William Shaw, President; Eric Matheson, Vice-President; Nancy Bushey, Secretary-Treasurer; Bonnie Stuart and Larry Malloy, Student Council Members. This year we sponsored a well-attended Twirp dance.

By the time we became Juniors we had lost some strength along the way, as now there were only thirty-five members. We stayed in the main room with Mrs. Atwood as our class advisor. The following officers were elected: Bonnie Stuart, President; Eric Matheson, Vice-President; Connie Carl, Secretary-Treasurer; Larry Malloy, Stephen Read, and Nancy Bushey, Student Council Members. The highlight for us this year was our Junior Prom and the Graduation Ball, which we sponsored.

Our Senior year we were back in the Freshman room with Mr. Matheson as our class advisor. We elected Judith Beane, President; Stanley Cates, Vice-President; Mona Atwood, Secretary-Treasurer; Jackie West, Mona McKay, Stephen Read, and Larry Malloy, Student Council Members. One of our duties was to assist in the Hunters' Breakfast - an experience to remember.

Our Christmas holidays were saddened by the loss of Mr. Matheson, who had so capably filled the position of our class advisor for three years.

Mrs. Jean Dingley assumed this position temporarily. Once again we are looking forward to the Junior and Senior Proms, but Graduation is going to be the highlight of all four years for us.

Bingham Cavaliers

Bingham's highly successful season included victories over Milo and Williams (Oakland), a leading contender in Class L schools. The Cavaliers were third-seeded at the regional four tournament at Lawrence High in Fairfield and won the Hartland game 60-31. The second game, which seeded Hermon, was the best of the tournament, though we lost 69-58.

We are proud of Johnny Malloy, who made the all-tournament team as forward. The "Malloy Cousins," Larry and Johnny, represented us at the All Star Game February 17, at North Anson.

Bingham High had a fair season in the 1960 U.K.V.C. campaign. They won six games and lost three, not quite holding up to the 8-2 season of 1959. James McLaughlin was again our leading pitcher with a 2-0 record. Jon Guay also did well with a 1-0 record, Larry Malloy with a 1-1, and Dick Atwood with a 1-3 season. The big stickers at B.H.S. in the 1960 campaign were J. Malloy .476, D. Atwood .343, L. Malloy, .313, J. Guay .313, John Malloy had a good season, belting the ball at .476 clip for the nine-game campaign and Leo Fournier was voted "Rookie of the Year."

The 1961 season shows great promise with 9 lettermen returning and a great deal of new talent. Taking all this into consideration, our team should go all the way in '61 under our new coach Mr. Ryder.

WHAT THE CONSTITUTION MEANS TO ME

The Constitution of the United States of America is the written, fundamental law of the nation, the supreme law over this land. It can be amended by the process stated in Article V of it. Our whole federal government system is functioning from this one important doctrine. The Constitution contains a Preamble, seven articles, and twenty-one amendments, of which the first ten are more commonly known as the Bill of Rights.

The Bill of Rights guarantees certain liberties for the individual. Just a few of these liberties are: right to attend the church of your choice, right to keep and bear arms, right to life, liberty, and property, and right to petition grievances against the government. Some of the remaining amendments deal with: income tax, woman suffrage, abolishment of slavery, and the direct election of senators. The seven articles contain the functions of the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial Departments, the Process of Amendment, General Provisions Relations of the states to one another, and Ratification of the Constitution.

The Constitution represents to me a secure and sound life, but it can insure this only if I am willing to obey its laws and appreciate its privileges. I have always taken the Constitution for granted. I think the main reason for this is that I have always had it and have had no other form of government besides it.

I never fully realized the important role that it plays in my life. For example, if we did not have the Constitution, I probably should not be going to a secondary school and have the right to choose my subjects, or maybe my father would not be operating his own small business. But we do have the Constitution, and by its stating the amendments and articles, it provides protection for me. It means to me, that, as a citizen of the United States, I am protected from any illegal harm inflicted upon me. It assures me protection from unreasonable searches and seizures, from excessive fines, punishments, and it guarantees trial by jury. It gives me the right to voice my opinions and grievances, and grants me the privilege and duty of taking a part in operating our government by selecting political parties, voting at elections, and making petition.

I believe that the Constitution will continue to serve man efficiently and give him the liberties he desires only if he is educated well enough to know that the Constitution is there to help him, not suppress him. We should try to co-operate and work side by side with our government.

Judith Beane '61

WHAT THE CONSTITUTION MEANS TO ME

The Constitution of the United States means many different things to different citizens of this country. The ideals set up in it represent the democratic freedoms and opportunities of our great capitalistic country. To me as a natural-born citizen of the United States, it represents the very thing we stand for, the ability to express our feelings and to have the liberties that are born in every human being.

I believe in the Constitution because it represents a vital part of the government, and it is one of the greatest factors that have held this country together. This nation has one of the best organized governments in the world; and though it has gone through many critical periods, it has remained strong.

The Constitution also preserves and strengthens the rights of every citizen in the United States of America. It would appear to me that every country should have a system that gives the citizens a right to choose the leader they want and a statement of rights that could benefit each individual. The Constitution in my eyes does just this and is the pedestal of the United States government.

It would be against progress to think that any one article of the Constitution could benefit the people for hundreds of years without being changed.

That is why the open-minded "Founding Fathers" preserved the right to add amendments to the Constitution as further progress to man.

In conclusion, I thank God for being born in such a wonderful country as the United States of America, where there are laws and rules to protect me and my fellow man.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

When Romeo Montague said to Juliet Capulet the immortal lines "What's in a name? That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet," he was a young man very much in love and trying a little wishful thinking. Anyhow, her name, because of the family feud, did make a great deal of difference to his life and led to his tragic death.

Well, what IS in a name? Do we ever stop to think, for instance, of names as applied to our own little world? If we only realized the significance of these, we should know that back of the name of each town and every one of our streets there is a world of meaning - history, romance, and adventure, and living interest.

Speaking of names, why should Caratunk Falls be in Solon - twenty-three miles fron the town of that name. Diane Barron tells us that the name CARA-TUNK, meaning "rocky and rough," was given by the Norridgewock Indians to the vast stretch of land between Solon and Moosehead. Solon really WAS part of Caratunk: hence the name CARATUNK FALLS.

Mona McKay explains that The Forks received its name from a group of settlers who left Solon March 4, 1819, and snowshoed along the Kennebec to Moose River to trap. About half way they spotted an area with two rivers meeting. On their arrival at Moose River they commented several times how much the meeting of the rivers resembled a fork. From then on, the name has been carried down as the town of The Forks. Stand on the bluff in front of the Marshall Hotel and see for yourself the whirling meeting of the waters and the appropriateness of the name.

Judy Beane relates the tale of how Pleasant Ridge got its name. The first settler rode from North Anson up a narrow trail on horseback through the woods. He was looking for a spot where corn could be grown without chilling. When he arrived at the Ridge, he stopped, built his cabin, and planted his corn. Later more farmers came, and soon a settlement sprang up. Since it was on a ridge, the view of the wide expanse of the valley with the Kennebec flowing between and the hills beyond was so pleasant that it came to be known as Pleasant Ridge.

Inhabitants of Moscow are sometimes annoyed when someone jokingly asks if their town received its name from the great Russian city of Moscow, but that is exactly what did happen in 1816. We wonder if it was because of Napoleon's failure to take the city and his downfall after the Treaty of Paris in 1815, a cause for worldwide rejoicing.

When you speak of Bingham, can you not see in imagination old William Bingham, clad in knee breeches flourishing a quill pen as he signed the documents relating to the sale of the vast tracts of land won in a lottery?

The new street signs in Bingham have not only improved the appearance of our town, but they have awakened an interest in their origin. It is strange that in this woodsy region not one street bears such a name as SPRUCE or MAPLE or ELM. A few do have topographical significance, but in most cases they are named after people. Probably it was the chance residence of some settler that gave a street its name, but who WERE such people as Goodrich, Murray, Baker, Preble, Dinsmore, Owens, Milford, and others?

Goodrich Street was named after a family active in its settling and long prominent in the town's civic, social, and religious life. The huge Joshua Goodrich farm extended from the river to Bingham Heights and from the Earl Taylor home to Meadow Street. Joshua divided it among his sons, and from this farm came the central section of our town. Among other things the tavern, a general store, the baseball field, the Congregational and Nazarene Churches and many residences have been made. It is fitting that Mrs. Elizabeth Goodrich Jordan, a descendant, is now resident librarian at the corner of Goodrich and Main Streets.

But who on earth was the James of James Street? I maintain that this is a misnomer, for "James" might be anybody. Some people can still remember the little roly-poly Irishman named James O'Hara, who owned the acres of farm land from Goodrich to Owens Street. This should certainly be O'HARA instead of JAMES Street.

When children of the future go out to the new school building past all the modern houses that have filled in the street, they may ask, "Why was this called Meadow Street?" Nancy Bushey tells us that this particular street was named from the wide rolling meadow and the brook beyond it. During the summer when the brook rippled along through the meadow filled with daisies, blue flags, and steeplebush, while minnows darted about in the singing water flashing their silvery tails, it presented so spectacular a panorama that the townspeople naturally named the street after it.

There is no name more common in New England towns than River Street - nor any more in keeping with the background of our own town. If the Kennebec could relate its own story, I am sure it would sound something like this:

"During my journey to the ocean one of the most interesting parts of my trip is that through Bingham. Long ago the Norridgewock Indians used to paddle quietly between my shores. Then the great bateaux of Arnold and his men made their way to the Carrying Place. Later I remember hearing the hearty laughs of the 'robust rivermen' as they sat around tables loaded with food, in the drivers' shacks built along my shores, telling yarns of the exploits they shared getting logs to the mills 'down river' or in dynamiting a log jam to save the Bingham bridge, or of the gay time when 'the rear' of the drive reached town and the rivermen 'took over.' In later years the scene has become more peaceful with the numerous anglers sharply outlined against the sky on a June evening in the pool below the power station at Wyman Dam. This street named after me causes me to swell with pride as I pass by."

The settlers did not forget the old with the new. Two hills, formed when the glacier passed over this area, were named "Old Hill" and "Old Bluff." In a day when they were building a new nation, our forefathers felt the need of the strength of the eternal hills as symbolized in the name OLD.

As our Sesquicentennial draws near, let us observe and think, so that the knowledge of these things may not pass out of remembrance in our generation.

BIGGEST PROBLEM OF TEENAGERS - PARENTS!

Parents! Boy, what a bunch! They're always picking on us poor teenagers. Always wanting us to DO something. Why, do you know my parents even expect me to keep my room clean! The whole of it! What do they think I am anyhow, a workhorse?

You talk about people changing their minds! You ought to meet my parents! All the time they're "at" Nancy to join dramatics, or join this, or join that. So she joins something. She joins a club. Can she help it if it's not the type of club they meant? What is she supposed to be, anyhow - a mind reader? Is it her fault if it's one of these clubs you pay $2 a week for twelve weeks and then get a couple of skirts, a blouse, a sweater, and a big bonus of a GENUINE ironing board cover? (After all, the bonus ought to be worth something). Of course it's not her fault! They're the ones who wanted her to join something. But boy-oh-boy, you ought to hear them when, with her allowance all gone for the club, she puts the "bite" on for more money.

It's just the opposite with me. I'm a good boy! I join a whole "mess" of things. So what does dear Father say but, "Bruce, you've got to get out of something. You're on the go too much, and you don't do enough studying." Did you ever hear anything so riduculous? I'm never out more than seven nights a week and I always study at least 45 minutes a day.

Another pet peeve of my parents is clothes. Here I am with only four good pairs of pants to my name, and yet every time I want to buy a new pair, Father Dear throws a fit. He rambles on and on about how he had only one pair of pants a year when he was my age, and if he wanted them washed he had to stay home from school. (Say, that's an idea. Maybe I ought to throw away three pairs.) When he sees this isn't affecting me, he usually changes his approach. Now he becomes the tyrant. He simply says (yells) "NO!" This usually means he's exhausted and another few minutes' work will put me on the way to the store.

Talk about being stingy (selfish). Well, that's my parents with the car. They won't let me have it hardly any, just for play rehearsals every night. If I want to go uptown, I have to walk or hitchhike!

I think my parents have awfully sensitive ears. Every time I turn the radio on, they come in and turn it way down until you can hardly hear it. Don't they realize that to appreciate modern music everything must be going full blast? I guess they don't. They certainly don't act it.

Posture, now there's another sore spot in my household. All the time someone's "at" me to stand straight instead of leaning. What business is it of theirs, anyhow? I guess if I want a curved backbone I can have one! So there!

Sometimes when I get mad because they won't let me do something, they say, "You'll understand when you're older and have a family," but I know I won't!

In Memoriam

MAY BAKER TUPPER 1893

In January the community was saddened by the death of a member of our first graduating class - May Baker Tupper. Thirty-eight years of her life were spent as an elementary teacher in this region, all but three of them in the Bingham schools. Many of our town's residents had their first impressions of school from this kindly and gentle teacher, and their children, in turn, were to have her guiding hand in their first attempts to learn the "Three R's." Though she retired in 1938, her interest in them never ceased, for she was always eager to hear of successes of her "boys and girls." We gladly honor the memory of a life of devoted service to education.

MARY ANN FOSS OGDEN 1914

"Mary Ann" Foss specialized in languages at Colby College (Cum Laude, 1919) and later taught Spanish and Social Studies at Sanford, Maine, and Wethersfield, Connecticut.

She is married to Ralph T. Ogden, M.D., President of the Staff of the Hartford Hospital and President of the American Radium Society. They reside at 15 Thicket Lane, Sunset Farm, West Hartford, Connecticut.

Mrs. Ogden has talent as an administrator, as evidenced by the offices she has held. She has been President of the College Club, Sigma Kappa Alumnae, Pan-Hellenic Association, Bard and Sage Study Club, and the Women's Auxiliary of the Hartford County Medical Association, all of Hartford, besides minor offices in many other organizations.

In addition to church activities and interest in art (especially charcoal and oil painting) her special "love" is flowers, and through study in Connecticut, Mass., and N. Y. (eight courses at the Metropolitan Museum) she has become an expert in judging of flower arrangements, with services in demand even to the National League of Garden Clubs in Washington, D.C. And imagine a B.H.S. alumna as a Fellow of the Royal Horticultural Society in England! She has traveled widely, several times attending International Radiological Congresses with her distinguished husband.

In spite of a life that has taken "Mary Ann" far from her little home town and its circumscribed interests, she has always been loyal to it and makes the opportunity to call and renew old friendships whenever she is in Maine. Best wishes to a gracious alumna.

MARITA COOLEY HARRISON 1919

After high school, Marita Cooley continued her education at Colby College. She followed the teaching profession, a short time in Bingham, later at various places in Maine, Delaware, New York, and New Jersey. She has traveled extensively.

She is married to Mr. Tilden Harrison, a director of the Y.M.C.A. in New York City, where the couple reside. She is a mathematics teacher in a nearby New Jersey city. Knowing her long-standing interest in that subject, we can guess that she is "in her element" in these days when "Math" has assumed such importance in education.

MARCIA CROMBIE 1926

Another member of the teaching profession, Marcia Crombie, prepared as thoroughly as possible for her career. She graduated first from Farmington State Teachers College in 1929, taking her Bachelor's degree from there in 1946, and her Master's from Boston University in 1949. Her varied career includes thirteen years in the Bingham schools, two in Haverhill, N.H., five in Plaistow, N.H., as principal of an 8-room school, two as Director of Education at the [illegible]gland Home for Little Wanderers at Boston, a diagnostic study home for children with [illegible]justment, physical, mental, or emotional. For the past fourteen years she has [illegible] Massachusetts, school system, where she has a special class at Warren Junio[illegible]n interest in her profession, she is a member of many professional organizatio[illegible]cially those having to do with exceptional or retarded children.

Mrs. Beverly Boyington

She has always been deeply interested i[illegible]ch, and is at present Director of the Friendship Guild and a class teacher at the Second Church Congregational, Newton.

"Helping others" has been the keynote to the life of this outstanding alumna, and the teenager facing problems of adjustment is fortunate indeed to find his way to such a competent and understanding guide.

GILBERT OWENS 1953

Gilbert Owens enlisted in the Army for three years, and was stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, later at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. He was in the Medical Division in hospital work and after the service worked three months at a Chicago hospital. For six months he trained at Mansifield, Connecticut, to become a phychiatric aide. He is at present at their training center for mental patients, of which there are 2400, ranging from five to sixty-five years of age.

In his important position as Supervisor of Patients, "Gilly" must often find himself at his wits' end to know what is best to do, but his friendly and gentle way must make him popular with all. We know that he must find deep satis-faction in helping these unfortunate people to make adjustments to life.

BERNARD RUSSELL 1930

"Bun" Russell's career since school days has been tied up with the Central Maine Power Company and it is of interest that he has been in on the beginning of operations at three of the hydro stations on the Kennebec. He was in the first operation crew at Wyman Station, where he worked nine years; again he was a member of the crew that first put the Williams Station at Solon into operations; and finally when Harris Station at Indian Pond was first put on the line, he was one of the three experienced men sent there for several months to instruct the new operators. Four years ago he and his wife moved to Indian Pond, where he became a resident in the "reservation circle" and superintendent at the Station.

Mr. Russell is married to the former Charlotte Mitchell, at the time a teacher in the Labora-tory school at Washington State Normal School at Machias, and since a highly successful teacher in this reigon.

He was a charter member of the Solon Lions Club and served as their first King Lion.

His keen interest in Masonry carried him through the highest offices in the Blue Lodge and the Chapter, the Council, and on to the Commandery. Both he and his wife are members of the Order of the Eastern Star.

A great lover of the outdoors, he enjoys hunting and fishing; and even now, when he lives in an isolated area, he spends part of his vacation camping. Beagling is one of his hobbies, and his dogs have won places in field trials. He is a member and past president of the Central Maine Beagle Club.

On December 29th, 1960, "Bun" received a pin recognizing his 30 years' service with the Central Maine Power Company. His old school congratulates him on his success in his profession.

JOHN STRYKER CRAIG 1937

One thread seems to have been well woven into the life of John Craig - interest in aviation, which showed itself strongly even in undergraduate days. His last year at the U. of Maine was disrupted when in December 1940 he volunteered for service and entered the Air Force Flying School in Georgia. For the next two years he was Advanced Flying Instructor. Leaving it for you to read between the lines, he laconically passes over a whole career of adventurous service with this item:

"Fighter Pilot in 14th. Air Force, China-Burma-India to end of war, 1945."

In 1946, he opened the DOWN EAST AIR SERVICE, INC. at Brewer, Maine. Five years later he was called to service again and stationed at the Filter Center in Bangor until 1953. In 1955 he was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel.

Lieut. Col. Craig is a member of the First Congregational Church of Brewer, Maine. He is married and has one son, John S. Craig, Jr. He lives at 203 Chamberlain Street, in Brewer. He sometimes returns to the family camp at Pleasant Pond, when the sound of "wings" announces his presence to the startled natives.

His old school is very proud of this distinguished soldier and citizen.

LEWIS POTTER ex-1941

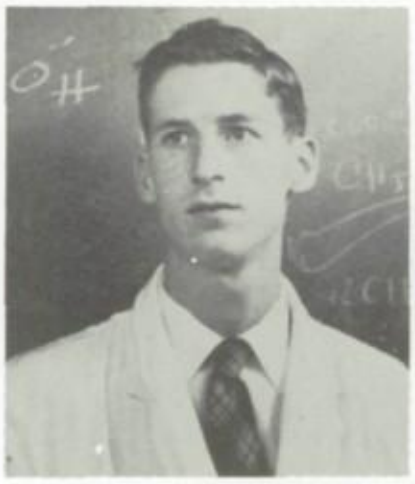
Residents of the town still remember the "thrills and chills" Bill used to give them at prize speaking contests in the Colby Theater through the "Telltale Heart" or the harrowing story of some criminal. It will surprise them to learn that he is on the other side of the fence now and pursues such characters in his duties as Deputy Sheriff in Orange, Texas. But a good deal has happend in between.

His Air Force career was cut short by a medical discharge, but he did not abandon his cherished hope of becoming an entertainer. He began as announcer and "disc jockey" on radio, and then worked his way up as a Western Star in several movies in California. In Texas he was a star in his own TV program and did numerous benefit performances. Later he appeared on the Arthur Godfrey Talent Scout show for a week in N. Y.

He decided at this time to try his hand in another field, that of law enforcement, and he was with the Orange City Police Department for three years, finally becoming Deputy Sheriff. He liked the change very much and is studying to further his new career.

He is married to the former Eddie Johnson and they have two children.

Best wishes for successful law enforcement with those "characters" from Texas.



JAMES YOUNG 1950

You could expect the unexpected from "Jimmy" Young, and he has indeed provided it for us recently by becoming a teacher of Chemistry at the American College for Girls in Istanbul, Turkey!

A career in science could easily have been predicted, since James had to choose between science scholarships from two different schools when he was a Senior at B.H.S. The Rhode Island School of Design was his choice. Uncle Sam interrupted his education here, and he spent one year at Fort Leonard Wood in Missouri and the next in Korea.

In 1956 he married a New Haven, Connecticut, girl, Dianna Corbin, a professional artist with a B.A. from the Rhode Island School of Design.

After his period in the service James returned to school and received his B.S. in 1957. That summer he did research on mildew for Clark & Coates Co. He then taught first-year Chemistry at the University of Virginia, studying meanwhile for his M.S., which he was granted in 1961. and that brings us back to his glamorous post in Istanbul.

In high school Jim's talent as an actor made him in great demand for skits and plays. One very successful role was that of an absent-minded professor; so perhaps it is not out of place to remind "the professor" that in these days of difficult international relations and major upheavals in outer space, asbent-mindedness could be very serious. We know that he is a wonderful teacher of science.

ALUMNI BANQUET

The Class of 1960 deserves praise for its work in starting an Alumni Association. For the first meeting at the Fraternity Hall, it was decided to gather local members only and get organized. June 10, 1960, a banquet prepared by Mr. Charles Bemis preceded the meeting, with ninety-six alumni, alumnae and guests present.

Principal John Hall acted as Master of Ceremonies, and Mrs. Alice Clark of Caratunk, member of the first graduating class (1893) was presented with a corsage.

The following officers were elected:

President, Mr. Wallace Pratt
Vice-President, Mrs. Jean (MacDougall) Dingley
Secretary, Mrs. Dassie (Robinson) Nickerson
Treasurer, Mrs. Hazel (Carl) Whitman

This year the Association wishes to include out-of-town alumni and alumnae as well as local members and to make a happy reunion an annual event. You are urged to come yourself and to let out-of-town friends know about the reunion.
